Opposition Group Plans Final Fight

House Republicans Say They'll Battle on Conviction Aid Means War for U. S.

Big Lead Is Seen

Final Roll Call Vote Is Expected to Show Big Majority

Washington, March 19 (AP)—A small opposition band of House Republicans, expressing belief that the United States, decided on a last-ditch fight today to slash the big $7,000,000,000 lease-lend appropriation before a final vote sends the bill to the Senate.

Announcing this forlorn stand in the face of conceded overwhelming administration strength, Rep. Lambertson (R., Kans.) charged that President Roosevelt was "enthused" by the possibility of becoming a war president of the United States.

This threat of determined resistance failed to arouse concern among the bill's supporters. As the hour for voting approached, leaders of both parties predicted that a tremendous majority would be rolled up for the bill appropriation to emphasize to the world that "we mean business."

Consideration of amendments was the first order of business for the day, and sponsors of the bill said their strategy would be to crush the first few major proposals with lop-sided votes, thus hoping to discourage presentation of a series of others and thereby save time. The final roll-call was expected late in the day, but leaders were ready to force a night session, if necessary, to dispose of the measure.

Would Ask Return

Lambertson, however, declared that he would ask the House to send the measure back to the appropriations committee with instructions to cut it to $5,000,000,000 if for no other reason than to demonstrate "that we dare do it."

Lambertson told the chamber yesterday that the $7,000,000,000 fund request by President Roosevelt was the forerunner of others, and he gave it as his opinion that all-out aid meant eventually "sending our boys."

"It is time for congress, which represents the rank and file of people at home, who have never agreed to this war, who have been fooled, to do something about it," he continued.

"It was planned from the beginning not to have a declaration of war. We planned to imitate Japan on that score and not have any war."

"I say let us rise up on our hind legs and be American congressmen again and vote for this re-committal (to the committee)."

Three other House members spoke of war fears. Rep. Dirksen (R., Ill.), while announcing he would back the appropriation, said he could not see how the nation could escape "the vortex of events that are inexorably dragging us down the path toward conflict."

Nevertheless, he argued, in view of the commitments of the President and congress, it would be illogical not to provide adequate funds now for the aid program.

A prediction that the United States would be plunged into war within "60 or 90 days" came from Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), who voted against the nation's entry into the World War, and Rep. Tinkham (R., Mass.) assailed the

Cook Kills Wife

Turns Gun Upon Himself, Daughter, 8, Reports; Result of Quarrel

New York, March 19 (AP)—A 34-year-old cook and his wife were found shot to death last night in their basement apartment in the rectory of a Bronx Catholic church. Police said the cook, Thomas Dion, had shot his wife and himself.

They said the couple's eight-year-old daughter, Isabel, told her mother, Nora, 30, returned home late and an argument ensued. Isabel heard two shots fired from her bedroom into a hallway where she saw the body of her mother. Dion told the girl to go back to her room, she said, and shortly afterward she heard another shot. She found him lying on the bathroom floor.

Where Faithful Police Dog Gave Warning of Peril

Gale-like March winds spread a fire rapidly last night through a 13-room boarding house, a barn and another structure at the Albert Marcello farm a mile outside Highland on the New Paltz road. Top photo shows smoldering ruins and in the background the scorched nine-room residence from which eight members of the Marcello family escaped when awakened by the insistent barking of "Ruffie," who is shown at left with its master, Albert Marcello.

Weather Moderates Eight Persons Are Awakened by Dog And Escape Fire

Oncont Barber Is Killed in Fire; Snowplows Are Hampered by Gale; Traffic Stalls

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Diminishing winds and slowly rising temperatures came today to most of New York after a two-day winter's end storm which contributed to 12 deaths, blocked highways with high-drifted snow and closed many schools.

Only extreme northern New York, in the vicinity of Malone, still was buffeted by winds of gale proportions which quickly formed drifts and sent the mercury skidding overnight to eight below zero at Owl's Head. All main thoroughfares were passable, however.

Elsewhere, snowplow crews struggled to reopen highways in temperatures that ranged from 14 to 18 degrees above as compared to sub-zero and near zero cold yesterday. Numerous secondary roads remained plugged by huge drifts, however, forcing continued suspension of classes in many schools. These were in Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Onondaga, Ontario, Seneca and Herkimer counties.

Snow fell heaviest in Onondaga county, to a depth of nearly nine inches, and adjacent counties.

The death toll mounted when Raymond L. Stone, 52, Onondaga barber, perished last night in a wind-fanned fire which destroyed his home.

Overnight minimum temperatures included three below zero at Malone, 14 above zero at Albany and Rochester, 16 at Binghamton and Buffalo and 18 at Syracuse.

The weather observatory at Whiteface Mountain, in the heart of the Adirondacks, reported a 50 miles per hour wind at 7:30 a. m. (EST) and 10 below zero.

A 65-mile gale yesterday damaged five planes at Nassau Airfield, East Meadow. Thirty-one flights were cancelled at La Guardia Airport and incoming passengers complained of airsickness. Buses were stopped south and west of Rochester, and many coal and food trucks abandoned along Route 11 north and south of Cortland, where state police ordered roads closed to traffic last night.

One-way travel prevailed on many Erie county highways and Chautauqua county's drifts buried two snowplows. Blocked routes to cemeteries led to postponement of several funerals near Jamestown.

Northern and central New York secondary highways, on which countless persons became snow-bound, were not expected to be open until tomorrow. A shovel gang freed two locomotives which stalled in deep drifts south of Parish, en route to Watertown.

Hammond Seeks To Clear Himself

Career Diplomat Would Halt Effort to Dismiss Him From Position

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Through a district court complaint filed against Secretary Hull and other state department officials, Ogden H. Hammond, Jr., son of a former ambassador to Spain, sought today to block his dismissal from a career post in the foreign service.

The 29-year-old Yale alumnus declared in his petition that A. A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, had asked him to resign because of reports that he had publicly mimicked President Roosevelt and had "disloyal dealings with a female agent of a foreign government." Hammond specifically denied the truth of both reports and stated they represented a "vicious and malicious fabrication."

Hammond's petition, filed yesterday, named as defendants Hull, Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, had asked him to resign because of reports that he had publicly mimicked President Roosevelt and had "disloyal dealings with a female agent of a foreign government." Hammond specifically denied the truth of both reports and stated they represented a "vicious and malicious fabrication."

Hammond served at Vienna and Leipzig, and recently has been on leave of absence from the department. His father was ambassador to Spain from 1925 to 1929.

Hammond supported his petition for reinstatement.

Government's Loss In Taxes Totals Several Thousands

Estimate Shows That Local Still Produced About $1,320 of Taxable Alcohol Weekly

Tax loss to the federal government through sale of alcohol produced illegally at the North street still raided Saturday totalled thousands of dollars it was learned through a rough estimate today.

On the day of the raid alone it is estimated the tax would have been $4,800 had the alcohol on hand been produced through a legitimate source.

Agents reported that the still at the time of the raid contained 800 gallons of alcohol and the usual tax on a gallon of the type of alcohol produced at the still $6 or $30 on the type of five-gallon cans found in the North street building.

It was also learned that the type of alcohol at the still is generally sold illegally at prices ranging from $12 to $18 on the five-gallon cans.

Output at the still was also estimated at 15 gallons for the hour or 120 gallons for an eight-hour day. Sale of this amount on a daily production basis would mean a loss to the government of $720 a day or $4,320 for a six-day working week.

It is also estimated that those operating the still would have realized at least $288 a day if 120 gallons or 24 five-gallon cans were produced and sold in one day.

No announcement was made as to how long the still was believed to have been in operation but it was stated that federal agents were watching the plant for several weeks before the raid was staged.

If it were only in operation for a month, however, the loss to the government in taxes would probably mean at least from $16,000 to $20,000.

Dismantling of the still neared completion today and truckloads of the material to be salvaged were taken from the building under supervision of the federal agents.

It is understood that the usable metals will be shipped to the Brooklyn Navy yard and the sugar given to some charitable institution.

C.Z. Rogers Named To Head Festival

Marlborough Man Chosen Chairman of Committee on Arrangements

At a meeting of the temporary organization committee for the 1941 Apple Blossom Festival, held last night, it was voted to make the festival a Hudson Valley affair, as was done last year and C. Zacharie Rogers of Marlborough was named general chairman.

Walter R. Seaman of Highland was elected chairman for Ulster county. Henry R. Bright, who served as general chairman last year, was chosen to act as general coordinator of festival activities.

Albert Kurdt will again serve as general secretary, and President Pratt Boice of the Ulster County Savings Institution was elected treasurer.

Saturday, May 10, was set as the date for the festival this year. It will be the fourth apple blossom festival to be held in Ulster county and the second in which other counties will participate. Secretary Kurdt said this morning that counties on both sides of the Hudson, from Rockland to Albany and

U. S. Arms Spending Soon May Equal Or Exceed British Monthly Outlay

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The United States armament spending may soon equal or exceed Great Britain's present monthly war outlay of $1,500,000,000 if Congress votes the pending $7,000,000,000 lease-lend appropriations.

To get this tremendous production program into high gear as quickly as possible, congressional tabulations showed, the government is pouring nearly $4,000,000,000 into airplane plants, shipyards, tank factories and other industrial facilities.

Interested legislators said they were informed that by June the vast armaments production machine—already enlarged by the expenditure of more than $2,000,000,000 for plant expansion since the defense program started—would be turning out implements of war for the army and navy at a rate requiring a monthly treasury outlay of $1,200,000,000.

While this was regarded as the temporary peak for strictly American needs, approval of British aid appropriation would call for the expenditure of an additional $7,000,000,000 during the next 18 months to produce equipment for other nations.

This aid program would boost the nation's monthly bill for arms to $1,600,000,000, about $100,000,000 more than Great Britain is spending now to prosecute the war.

British to Slaughter Many Farm Cattle

London, March 19 (AP)—An "appreciable number" of cattle on British Isles farms must be slaughtered because of a feed shortage, Minister of Agriculture R. S. Hudson disclosed today.

He told farmers at Leicester that even after the reduction, in which choice animals would be saved, the number remaining still would be greater than in years immediately after the World War.

"I hope no one will run off with the idea that this is a panic policy of slaughter at any cost," Hudson said. "Far from this being the case, the country's cattle population this autumn—even after the contemplated reduction in numbers—will be well in advance of the lowest point it touched in years after the last war."

Americans Advise British to Adopt Destroyer Method

New Idea Would Supplant Use of Convoys to End Losses; Criticism Is Based on 2 Points

New York, March 19 (AP)—Shipping sources reported today that some American experts had advised the British to abandon the convoy system and establish a lane of destroyers across the Atlantic in an effort to thwart the increasing German threat to vital war supplies from America.

American shipping experts were understood to have told the British that the convoy system would have to be revised if the steadily mounting toll of shipping losses was to be cut down.

American criticism of the convoy system has been based on two points: It bunches groups of inadequately protected ships into a "mass target" for the Axis air, surface and undersea raiders.

It reduces efficient use of badly needed bottoms since fast merchantmen lose days while waiting for convoys to assemble and then must reduce their speed to that of the slowest unit of the convoy.

In broad outline the new plan would call for a constant patrol of some 50 destroyers along the 2,000 miles of great circle route from Labrador to the British Isles. They would be rotated in duty so that 40 always would be on watch while 10 either would be in port refueling or en route to their posts for a two weeks tour.

Each of these 40 destroyers would patrol a 50-mile sector of the Atlantic 10 times a day, establishing a lane across the Atlantic every inch of which would be policed by a warship every two or three hours.

At no time, shipping experts pointed out, would a destroyer be more than an hour's distance from any merchantman in the lane.

In this lane ships carrying supplies to Britain would be given a clear go ahead.

Advocates of the plan say it would mean adequate protection since they believe few if any German raiders would be able to penetrate a lane so constantly patrolled.

In addition, these advocates say, British merchantmen would be able to sail as soon as they were loaded and could race back and forth across the Atlantic at maximum speed.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The position of the Treasury March 17: Receipts $301,370,570.22; expenditures $154,594,177.15; net balance $1,984,788,638.90; working balance included $1,240,632,571.26; customs receipts for month $20,394,967.08; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $4,623,456,282.61; expenditures $8,162,848,098.08; excess of expenditures $3,539,391,815.47; gross debt $46,530,333,454.54; increase over previous day $169,750,499.99; gold assets $22,327,931,323.08.

Milk Bill Is Passed

Albany, March 19 (AP)—The Assembly today passed 118 to 13 a bill permitting farmers to sell up to 100 quarts of milk daily on their property without having to obtain licenses as milk dealers.

The measure went to the senate. The legislators beat down an effort by Assemblyman Daniel Flynn, Manhattan Democrat, to erase the limitation on the amount of milk that could be sold. Flynn attributed the limitation to the milk lobby which he claimed "is ten times more powerful than the utility lobby ever was."

His accusation immediately was denied by Assemblyman Maurice Whitney, Rensselaer Republican, and sponsor of the bill.

Port City Is Bombed All Night

Fire-Bombs, Explosives Are Released; Tactics Same as at Liverpool and Glasgow

Jijiga Captured

Important Ethiopian City Taken by Anglo Soldiers

(By The Associated Press)

Balkan quarters heard late today that Greece was preparing to send 500,000 troops to her northern front against an expected German invasion from Bulgaria and that American-built warplanes were arriving at Greek ports for the heralded "battle of the Balkans."

Only 300,000 of the 800,000-strong Greek army, it was said, are now manning the Albanian front against the Italians.

Germany is reported to have massed 16 divisions, about 240,000 men, along the Greek and Turkish frontiers, while the British were said to be moving troops north through Greece—the vanguard of 300,000 empire forces already landed or expected to land in the Aegean kingdom.

German quarters in Belgrade meanwhile asserted that Yugoslavia would join the Axis powers March 26. This was not confirmed elsewhere, and other reports said the Yugoslavs were presenting an ever stiffer front to the demands of Adolf Hitler since the arrival of British troops in Greece.

Supporting these reports, Belgrade dispatches said Yugoslavia's former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic, accused of pro-German sympathies, had been exiled because he attempted to align Yugoslavia with the Axis.

Germany's Luftwaffe thundered fire-bombs and high explosives on the English shipping city of Hull (Pop. 300,000) in a violent overnight assault, leaving great numbers of dead and wounded.

Dispatches from the bomb-torn city today said the attack was the worst of many suffered there, with the raiders roaring overhead in steady waves, using the same tactics that cost 1,000 lives and 1,300 injured in last week's smashes at Liverpool and Glasgow.

Berlin said several hundred planes engaged in the raid, attacking through the "entire night."

A single high-explosive bomb blasted a shelter and, the only survivor there was a 12-month-old baby.

British R.A.F. bombers countered with a heavy attack on the north German port of Kiel, and again pounded the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and oil storage tanks at the Nazi-held city of Rotterdam, Holland.

The German high command reported "a number of civilians were killed and many injured" in the R.A.F.'s forays against the Reich, but asserted damage was "slight."

Convoy Is Attacked

German long-range bombers stabbed by daylight at a convoy of 35 merchant ships escorted by six British destroyers in the north Atlantic, D.N.B. (official German news agency) reported. One ship of 5,000 to 8,000 tons was listed as sunk and another left with a heavy list.

Citing new blows in the critical "battle of the Atlantic," Hitler's high command asserted also that a Nazi speedboat sank two merchantmen totalling 10,000 tons in a raid on a convoy off the English southeast coast.

Moreover, the high command

Ship Is Wrecked

Freighter Breaks in Two on Sand Bar Near Town of Bay Shore

Bay Shore, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The British freighter Student Prince II struck a sand bar a half-mile off Fire Island today and was broken in half by heavy seas shortly after its captain and crew of eight were rescued by Coast Guardsmen.

Bound from Philadelphia to Halifax with 335 tons of coal, the 150-foot vessel had been buffeted since Monday by winds of near-gale force.

Captain John S. Smith, 76-year-old veteran mariner, blamed the loss of his ship—less than three years old—on a faulty compass. The vessel struck only 600 yards from the Coast Guard station.

New Paltz, March 19—Meadow Valley Farms, a subsidiary of Vogt Dairies, Inc., recently purchased property from Mrs. Christian Becker on North Huguenot street for the site of a new milk plant. Plans for the new building call for a much larger structure than the old creamery now being used. Thirty-nine farmers are now delivering milk to the present plant and 20 more have signed up to deliver their milk at the new plant when completed. Jacob Schreiber and Floyd McKinstrie have been appointed as farm directors to discuss local policy and farm problems with the firm's board.

$400,000 FIRE SWEEPS OIL STORAGE PLANT

Firemen pour hundreds of gallons of water on the oil-fed fire which swept the $1,000,000 plant of the Gulf Refining Company in New Orleans, causing damage estimated at more than $400,000. The blaze menaced huge stores of gasoline in tanks but these were saved by hard efforts. The fire was the second big blaze for the New Orleans area within a week, running the loss into high figures. ## Death Was Caused By Asphyxiation

Autopsy Shows Garofola Succumbed to Fumes

Autopsy on the body of Michael Garofola, whose soot-blackened body was found near a burned-out oil heater in his home at East Kingston late Sunday afternoon, indicated that death had been due to asphyxiation. There was found 15 per cent of saturated carbon monoxide in the blood, but this would not have been enough to cause death. There were no signs of a heart attack and the general physical condition of the former brickyard worker, who was past 70 years of age, was found to be good.

Garofola was asphyxiated Sunday morning when, apparently, he tried to extinguish the flame in a double burner oil heater in the upstairs living room of his home at East Kingston, where he lived alone. He was found on the floor near the heater by his son, John Garofola of Kingston, who called to see his father about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The room and the house generally was filled with soot and smoke from the heater, while near the stove stood a pan of water, with a wet coat nearby.

It is believed that Garofola had tried to put out the flame in the heater by using the old coat dipped in water, but was overcome by the fumes and smoke. The heater burned itself out when the oil supply was used up. There was no damage to the house by fire.

German Financial Operations Helped Military Machine

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington — German government financial operations since 1933 go a long way to explain why the Nazis have the most efficient military machine in the world.

Between the time Hitler came to power in 1933 and the end of the fiscal year on March 30, 1941, the German government admits it will have spent about $78,000,000,000.

This does not include the much discussed secret expenditures for armaments and the secret national debt incurred for those armaments.

Officially, however, of the 78 billions spent, about $62,000,000,000, or nearly 80 per cent of the total, has gone to rearm the nation in nine years.

These estimates are based on official German financial figures gathered by the United States Department of Commerce. The mark is valued at 40 cents.

In contrast, the United States government during the same period has spent about $72,000,000,000. Of this, some 14 billions or less than 18 per cent, went for national defense.

Thus in nine years, the German government has devoted at least four-fifths of all the money put out by its treasury to rearmaments, while we have been devoting less than one-fifth of our money to the same purpose.

Interesting, too, is the fact that Uncle Sam has a hard time fighting off people who want to buy government securities, while the Germans have already abandoned two "plans" to finance the huge war expenditures.

Financial experts close to the United States government who have studied the German plans suggest there are two reasons why the Germans have abandoned special plans to finance the war spending:

1. The present generation of Germans experienced the terrible inflation of post-war years, and like a burnt child, they dread the fire.

2. Both financial plans offered by the Nazis had all the earmarks of inflationary systems in the disguise of tax anticipation warrants, etc.

The last of these plans was dropped in November, 1939 and the usual bank borrowings, presumably have been used to finance heavy war expenditures since.

Most financial experts here estimate that financial operations similar to the German, if carried on here or in Great Britain, would have produced utter economic collapse. They say the Germans avoided collapse because of exercising control over their economic system.

Dr. H. Arnold Quirion of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce says:

"The extraordinary . . . raising of combined annual borrowings and tax revenues from about seven billion reichsmarks, or 15 per cent of the national income in 1933, to 72 billion reichsmarks or 72 per cent of the national income at present, was accomplished by the imposition of rigid controls on every branch of the national economy . . . production, wages, labor prices, consumption, foreign exchange, all international payments . . . interest rates, savings, withdrawals, capital issues, dividends, and (most important of all, perhaps), control of publication of economic and financial data."

Just for contrast, American national income for 1941 will range around $80,000,000,000. If we were spending 72 per cent of our income for armaments, we would put out about $57,000,000,000 for national defense this year. As matters stand, we'll hardly be able to spend 13 billions. We aren't producing armaments fast enough to put out anywhere near the amount the German government is spending for them.

Who Said The Farm Was Safe?

AP Feature Service

Every experienced city dweller weary of dodging automobiles and waiting for green lights, has moments when he wishes he could retire to the farm and relax. But this, says the National Safety Council, is the bunk. Of all occupations the farm is the most dangerous, accounting for 27 per cent of the 17,000 killed while at work during 1940. The tractor is the farm's greatest killer, horses, mules, and cows next. In the farmer's home, falls constitute the most important type of fatal accident, same as in all homes throughout the nation.

Shell Oil Company Advertising Conference

The 1941 annual sales and advertising conference of Shell Oil Company dealers will be held at the Palatine Hotel, Newburgh, on Monday, March 24, at 6 o'clock, according to Donald M. Swan, local Shell manager. The 1941 advertising program will be outlined by Charles H. Mead, Jr., division merchandising salesman. More than 200 persons including Shell's retail dealers in this area, salesmen and employees are expected to attend the session.

A special film produced by Shell, "Oil for Aladdin's Lamp," depicting the activities at Shell's $3-500,000 research laboratories, will be shown. Features of 1941 sales and advertising plans will be dramatized, and emphasis will be placed upon the part Shell is currently playing in national defense work and upon the variety of new products being produced from petroleum by the company.

A highlight of the company's approach to promotion of products will be emphasis on exclusive refining developments which have produced "Solutized" Shell, a new type gasoline. According to Mr. Mead, nearly 250 newspapers will receive a major share of the advertising budget to promote gasoline and motor oil.

REARMAMENT

The strength of a nation consists in the vitality of her principles. Policy, foreign as well as domestic, is for every nation ultimately determined by the character of her people and the inspiration of her leaders; by the acceptance in their lives and in their policy of honesty, faith, and love as the foundations on which a new world may be built. Without these qualities, the strongest armaments, the most elaborate plans, only postpone the hour of reckoning.

The real need of the day is therefore moral and spiritual rearmament. A growing body of people in this and other countries are making it their aim. It is a work in which all men and women, in all countries and of all races, are called to share and have power to help.

Were we, together with our fellow men everywhere, to put the energy and resourcefulness into this task that we now find ourselves obliged to expend on national defense, the peace of the world would be assured.

Is the way dark and dreary? Are you heartick and wan? Pilgrim be of good courage. Midnight foretells the dawn.

Mrs. Brownleigh—Do you think I'm going to wear this old squirrel coat all my life?

Brownleigh (brightly)—Why not, dear? The squirrels do.

Should You Feel Inclined to Censure? Should you feel inclined to censure?

Faults you may in others view, Ask your own heart, ere you venture.

If that has not failings too? Let not friendly words be broken; Rather strive a friend to gain;

Many a word in anger spoken Finds its passage home again. Do not, then, in idle pleasure, Trifle with a brother's fame;

Guard it as a valued treasure, Sacred as your own good name. Do not form opinions blindly; Hastiness to trouble tends;

Those of whom we thought unkindly Oft become our warmest friends.

Sandy—Here's a ticket to the magician's show tonight, Maggie.

Maggie—Thank you, Sandy.

Why Colored

Why are we prompted to speak of "blue" Mondays, "red" with rage, "purple" passion, "white" purity, "green" envy? Why do we connect cowards with the jaundiced shade? Why should black be any more pessimistic than turquoise? Wherefore this multi-colored exuberance of ours? Somewhere, or other we even ran across a chart of psycho-analysis by ones color preferences. There must be something in it, but what? Go ahead and guess we can't think of a thing.

Friend—Now that you're a success as a character actor and are going to be married, will you build your house on a bluff?

Tommy (beaming with pride)—No, Ma, but I got horrible mention.

If we do not believe in ourselves, we have a hard time finding anyone else who believes in us.

HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth Rosemary Corby

YESTERDAY. Of all the party arriving by seaplane at Heart's Haven, off the North Carolina coast, only Lordy Mac, Ham Millard's Scotty, is carefree. Mrs. Marbury wants to buy the old house; her niece, Gina Goodell, wants to get rid of Ham, and annex Brett Rodman, the expert who found the house; Julie Emerson wants to marry her young friend Eve Prentice to Neil Bowron, and Eve does not quite know what she does want for herself. There seems to be a sinister shadow hanging over the island, too.

Chapter Seven

Mrs. Jackson Speaks

BRETT went about ordering the supplies at the small village store on the mainland with no very good grace. His telephone call to the hotel had only confirmed his fears that the party had already left. The clerk mentioned six guests leaving—remembering Mr. Howe, Brett had decided that he'd better order plenty.

Luckily, he had consulted with Mrs. Jackson and she admitted having enough of the staples. He ordered fresh foods lavishly, therefore, and kept his unwilling boatman busy carrying packages back to the skiff. There was a solemnity in the man's manner, as if he were preparing for a funeral feast, that got on Brett's nerves. He was glad to escape at last and go to the small hotel where he had spent the night before to gather up his clothes.

His thoughts of Gina Goodell, as he walked down the pleasant tree-shaded street, were not kind. True, she had said she wanted to come down within a week, but Brett had been busy on another commission and had not been able to come south right away. He wished now that he had let the other work go, he hated Mrs. Marbury to get the wrong impression. If he had only a day, to get the place cleaned up.

The plane droned overhead as he was paying his bill. Brett snatched his bags and ran before he realized that no matter how he hurried, they would have landed before he could return to the island. He slowed up then, but the thought of seeing pretty Eve Prentice in that beautiful old room that would be such a perfect setting for her, made him hurry on again.

The boatman broke his silence long enough to say with satisfaction:

"Guess we'll be too late to welcome your folks down."

Brett did not reply, but threw his bags in and stared at the water while he tried to forget the maddening deliberation of the boat's owner as he untied his craft and got the motor going.

The line of the island was very faint in the distance—Brett could not see the plane at all, and gathered that the pilot had landed as near to the pier as he could, to take advantage of it.

They were only halfway there when the roar of the motor was heard again; the plane climbed up and, circling, headed north once more. Brett saw it go with an odd uneasiness. Mrs. Marbury must have decided, without hesitation, to stay. He hoped that Mrs. Jackson had managed to remove some of the dust in the last few hours.

In spite of Brett's orders, the boatman again refused to go near the pier, but tied up where he had before and handed out the packages one by one.

"Listen—I'll give you a dollar to help me get this stuff up to the house," Brett said, taking out the money. But the man shook his head.

"Jackson can help you. He ain't crippled," he said laconically.

"Besides, I got a man waitin' for me back there."

Brett paid him, and noted with some bitterness that he cast off and got away from the island with more speed than he had approached it. Berating the man silently but with vigor, Brett trudged off toward the house.

More Cheerful

AS HE came again to the grassy terrace, he saw that the house presented a more lively appearance. The shutters were thrown back, and voices called to each other from the rooms inside. He heard Eve's husky laughter, and the next minute a black dog raced out, chasing a white kitten, with Hamilton Millard in pursuit. The kitten fled up a tree and, above the dog's excited barking, Ham called a greeting.

"Say—let me give you a hand with those things. I suppose they're the groceries."

"Part of them—the rest are down by the shore. I'll get Jackson to bring them up."

"I don't think you will," Ham contradicted cheerfully. "The iron woman that calls herself his wife has got him doing his first honest work in years. I'll go back and help you tote 'em up."

Without going inside, he and Brett turned back and managed, in the one trip, to get all the packages to the terrace. Lordy Mac, considering it some kind of a new game, ran in circles around them, and pawed eagerly at the bundle of meat.

Meanwhile, Ham, puffing under his burden, told Brett about the trip down and confirmed his gloomy suspicion that Mrs. Marbury had been delighted with her first glimpse of the place.

"She's already planned for a swimming pool and a driving range," Ham added. "Gina's almost as bad, and Eve's going around looking starry-eyed. I don't think so much of these old places myself, and I guess Mrs. Emerson sort of agrees with me. But as please as if Gina like it, it's okay."

"Well, I'm glad Mrs. Marbury is pleased," Brett said, going into the house. "Although I suppose Mr. Howe isn't any too happy."

"Do you know—he is pleased." Ham's voice reflected Brett's astonishment. "And I thought he'd hate it, because he brought along sort of a bodyguard—at least, that's what we decided he was. But now the old gozer's here, he's as pleased as if he'd found the place himself, honest!"

Brett shook his head. He had often found that people were inexplicable when it came to houses. Sometimes you thought they'd like them, and they refused even to go in. Other times, as with Mr. Howe, they were all set to dislike a place, and then, at the first glimpse, fell in love with it. As the came into the main hall, Brett stopped abruptly.

There above him, with the soft colors of the stained glass falling on her, Eve stood on the circular balcony and looked down. Her flaming red blouse seemed to gather the brightness of the hallway around her, yet she looked little and fragile.

"Hello!" She raised her hand in greeting and ran down the stairs. "I'm so excited I can hardly speak. We're all mad about it. Somehow—her low laugh made Brett ashamed of the sudden pounding of his heart—"We expected a funny little farmhouse with boxy lines—somehow like New England."

"Lots of people had different ideas, even in the eighteenth century," Brett commented dryly. "Would you open that door for me? I'll take these things right out to the kitchen."

"Yes, make yourself useful, Eve," Ham exclaimed as he came in, laden. "I think Brett's bought enough to feed us for a month."

"You won't be here that long!" Eve turned, startled to find that Mrs. Jackson had stepped quietly out of the living room and was now standing directly behind her. She was disturbed too, by the definiteness of her statement, but she decided to be friendly.

"Oh, no—I believe the plane is ordered for tomorrow," she agreed, smiling shyly. "But it is such a beautiful place to stay."

The woman did not return her smile.

"If you don't have to stay," she said curtly, and vanished through the door after the two men.

Overtones Of Danger

EVE shivered. The house had lost some of its calm loveliness for her. She felt as though the sun were hidden under a cloud, yet, when she glanced in the living room, aired and cleaned now, she saw it shining brightly on the freshly mopped floor, and twinkling back from the breakfast bookcase that stood along one wall. Eve went slowly over to one of the windows that gave a glimpse of the sea.

But that night, seated in the great, gloomy dining room at the other side of the hall, the uneasy feeling returned. Flickering candles did not add to the brightness of the room, but instead seemed dimmed by the heavy paneling and the smell of mustiness that still lingered there.

Yet they were apparently a very bright and gay company. Mrs. Marbury was frankly overjoyed at Gina's interest in the place, and although Eve suspected the girl might lose interest just as quickly, she knew that for the first time Gina's enthusiasm for restoring an old house had been aroused. Julie was calm with the thought that the whole expedition would be over by the next day.

Julie had, however, surprised the lawyer and Jim Droissard with their heads together, standing just inside the long windows on the second floor. Mr. Howe had said softly, but with an urgent note in his voice:

"You spoke to the pilot—you are sure he understood you?"

"Of course he understood me," Droissard replied impatiently. "I told him just what you said."

"That's all right then."

They had turned from the window, and although she could not understand why, it seemed to Julie that the lawyer was upset to find her standing so close to them.

But it might have been the light—of course. Darkness was just beginning to shroud the place in an eerie gloom, and the one dim oil lamp in the circular hall below threw odd shadows on the wall.

Looking at Mr. Howe as he sat at the table, appreciatively sipping the wine that Mrs. Jackson had brought from the cellar, she thought how foolish her imagination had been.

Naturally, the lawyer wanted the pilot to know exactly when to come for them; after all, he was responsible for Mrs. Marbury and her niece, in a way. At least Theodore Marbury would probably make it difficult for him, if anything unpleasant happened.

She felt better, after that thought, and ate her dinner with renewed appetite. Mrs. Jackson could cook, she admitted grudgingly, although she had disliked the woman on sight.

Yet it seemed strange to Julie that Mr. Howe and his bodyguard stayed so close to each other.

Bundles Are Being Sent To Britain Twice Weekly

Mrs. Myron S. Teller, president of the local chapter of Bundles for Britain, wishes to correct an erroneous rumor that has been called to the attention of the local chapter. It has been stated that shipments of goods have been going to the docks of this country, unable to find space on ships going to Great Britain.

In regard to this, Mrs. Paul White, an executive of the national headquarters of Bundles for Britain, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York City, writes: "Our knitted garments are all going promptly to England in shipments once or twice a week. Seven hundred cases went this week. I earnestly hope that you will do everything in your power to quash the rumor that our shipments are on the docks. This is absolutely untrue."

While shipments are being sent constantly, there is need for more articles daily. The civilian population needs clothing of all kinds, as well as blankets. Donations may be taken to the local depot at 302 Fair street, this city.

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Congress soon will be asked to sanction development of the St. Lawrence waterway in cooperation with Canada. Stone Ridge, March 18 — The second meeting of Stone Ridge Grange for the month of March was held on Monday evening, March 17.

Worthy State Deputy H. V. Story was unable to be present on an official visit and it was necessary to change the lecturer's program from that previously advertised. There were 24 members present, and six applications for membership were received. The lecturer's hour consisted of the singing of Irish songs and many other favorites by the membership and the completing of arrangements for the coming vaudeville show. On account of the first April meeting coming due in Passion Week, it was decided to hold the next regular meeting of the Grange on the last Monday evening in March, the date being March 31. This meeting will take the place of the one due on April 7. There will be no meeting on April 7, only one meeting being held in April and that will be on Monday, April 21. At the meeting to be held on March 31, the lecturer's program will consist of "The Calvacade of America Recordings," followed by a quiz on the Constitution. It is also expected that Deputy Story will be able to make his official visit at that time.

On Thursday evening, March 20, at 8 o'clock in the Grange Hall, members of the Grange will present "An Old Time Vaudeville Show." Some very fine talent from Kingston and New Paltz have donated their services and will appear in this show. Over two hours of a real "old time vaudeville show." The public is invited to attend. Doors open at 7 o'clock with the show at 8 o'clock.

The usual egg donations for Easter will be gratefully accepted by the Grange. The eggs that are received are distributed among the charitable institutions of the county. The places where the eggs will be received and the date will be announced at a later date.

The Good Fellowship Society will hold a game party at the home of Mrs. George Boettiger Friday evening, March 21, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

SHOULD GUEST OF HONOR ARRIVE BEFORE OTHER GUESTS AND LEAVE FIRST. EMILY POST IS ASKED

From a reader in far-off Hawaii comes a letter whose opening sentence presents this unsolvable handicap of time and space. "Won't you" writes this reader, "please advise us about the party several of us are giving on Washington's birthday?" This day was long past when the letter reached me, but in answer to the question may be useful for another time. The island reader wrote this: "We all have definite though varying ideas of the correct role of a guest of honor. Would you set us right on the following points:

1. Should the guest of honor arrive before other guests?

2. Should she leave first (this is a most discussed point)?

3. Should she send the hostess flowers? (Whenever this has been done to me it has unfortunately upset my own ideas for decorations and color scheme.)

Answering the most discussed question number 2 first: This depends upon the party and whether it is given expressly for her.

At a dinner or a lunch party, she leaves first definitely. But at a reception (or tea) she stays until the end. She is not necessarily last but she is among the last to go.

She should (in answer to question 1) arrive before the guests in order that she may be found standing beside the hostess. At a lunch or dinner she is usually among the last to arrive. But this does not mean that she is to be late!

I can give no answer as to why the guest of honor must leave a dinner first and a reception last (or at least among the last) unless it is that at formal receptions ordinary guests simply pass by the guest of honor in the receiving line and then go their ways. At a dinner or lunch, they are all seated together and since one of them must therefore make the move to leave, the proper one to do this is the oldest or the one of first importance. Under usual circumstances, where there is no actual guest of honor (meaning, no one whom people have been invited to meet) and no one who is much older than all the others) there is no rule as to who first stands up to go.

In answer to question 3: It is never necessary to send the hostess flowers but most people (all people, I should say) love to send them and few rooms can have too many. However, if the guest of honor sends them, she should not attempt anything like a table piece but just send a plant or loose flowers. If the latter, she should be sure to send them at least two or three hours before the party so that there will be ample time to arrange and place them.

Man and Maid

Dear Mrs. Post: A man I know, but not very well, has gone to Alaska with the army. He has sent me several presents from up there and now writes that he would like to send me a fur jacket.

Will you tell me whether it would be proper for me to let him send such an important present?

Answer: Unless there are exceptional circumstances that you have not explained, you would have to know him much longer than "not very well" implies to accept a fur coat—even one of a fur that comes from the native Alaskan woods.

"Couldn't find a better tea"

"I've always been a tea drinker and wasn't particular about brands until we moved to Baltimore. I visited the McCormick Plant with a group of Church Ladies. They served us McCormick Tea. I started to use this tea right away and I still think it just as delicious as that day 6 years ago. After seeing how McCormick's Plant was operated and how carefully clean this tea and spices are packed and sealed to keep in the full flavor, I knew I couldn't find a purer or better tea than McCormick Tea anywhere." # Dick McConnell Is Chosen as Center on Freeman ALL-DUSO

Browns Selected At Forward Posts; Middies Place Two

Strubel and Sagendorf Are Picked on Second Team; Luedtke Nominated as Alternate

Dick McConnell, Kingston High School's scrappy and high scoring center, has been named on The Freeman All-DUSO first team. McConnell is the only Maroon and White player to receive recognition on the mythical team.

Following a season of close play in which every team fought desperately to reach the play-off, competition for every position was contested closely. Two local cage players were selected on the second team.

Besides McConnell at the pivot position, Carl Brown of Monticello, the league's leading scorer, has been chosen at one of the forward posts. Bob Brown, Port Jervis forward, who finished second in scoring with 94 points, is the other forward. Marty Herman and Tony Capozella of Middletown are the guards.

Testing McConnell for the center spot were Capozella and Ned Pilus of Newburgh. McConnell's sensational play in every game he participated gained him the slight edge. Pilus was chosen for the second team berth. Capozella, an important player, was voted for a guard slot.

Browns Pace Field

As for the forwards competition was unusually high. However, the Browns, Carl and Bob, two of the best all year, gained undisputed possession of the places on the first team. Only Frank Finn of Liberty and Rod Sagendorf of Kingston could have been the other nominations. As far as Sagendorf is concerned only his experience kept him from getting on the first team. The young Maroon star is expected to gain this experience in the next few seasons and will be one player to bear watching.

The two guards—Herman and Capozella—were largely responsible in bringing the first half pennant to Middletown. Between them they scored 113 points. All year they were steady and despite the fact that Capozella was a center his place on the first team is merited.

Seconds Are Strong

The second squad offers plenty of ace-high players with Rod Sagendorf and Frankie Finn at forwards; Ned Pilus of Newburgh at center, and Bill Strubel and Bill Norris of Monticello at guards. Both Norris and Strubel were captains this year of their respective clubs.

Strubel, the only veteran in Kingston's backcourt department after Joe Benjamin left the team early in the season, found his work cut out for him. After Benjamin left G. Warren Kias used Bud Luedtke and although his play was acceptable at times, he appeared to be getting a little ragged as the season came to a close.

Norris of Monticello is the unanimous choice for second team guard. Bill had a great opportunity to achieve his goal as an All-DUSO athlete but he couldn't manage to out either Herman or Capozella from their nest. Norris was touted as one of the finest defensive players in the circuit.

Ned Pilus of Newburgh, nearly won over McConnell of Kingston for first team recognition. The Newburgh Goldenback ace possessed about everything. McConnell did but the latter proved to be more consistent than Pilus. In fact McConnell proved to be the only consistent Maroon star during the second half.

Players receiving honorable mention are Bud Luedtke, Manny Gellman, Tony Paduch, Tony Bellotto, Norm Mapes, Sharples, Raub, Dillon and Kohler.

As a complete finish to the 1940-41 DUSO basketball season, The Freeman herewith announces its selection for All-DUSO honors. In the top row left to right are Marty Herman of Middletown, who was named right guard; Dick McConnell of Kingston, the center; and Carl Brown of Monticello, selected as right forward on the club. Below are Bill Strubel of Kingston as second team left guard; Rod Sagendorf, Kingston, as forward on the second string club and Bud Luedtke of the Maroon and White quintet as alternate guard. ### TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Lakeland, Fla.—Rudy York is showing so much power at bat in the Detroit Tigers' spring exhibitions that Manager Del Baker is looking for ways to cash in on it. He has shifted York to sixth in the batting order, instead of fifth, right behind Hank Greenberg, who often leaves the bags empty. Rudy has hit three homers, a double and three singles in his last eight official times at bat.

Hollywood, Calif.—Power has given the Philadelphia Athletics 10 victories in 11 exhibition games. Connie Mack's crew has scored 81 runs and rapped out 97 hits for a total of 192 bases. This includes 14 homers, six of them by Sam Chapman.

Carey to Coach

Clearwater, Fla.—Max Carey, who managed the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1933, is back as a special coach. Brooklyn's base-running in recent games didn't favor with Boss Larry MacPhail, so he hired Max to teach a few tricks he used to work. He concentrated on Pee Wee Reese, Pete Reiser and Cookie Lavagetto, three speedsters, showing them how to get away from the base quickly.

Bradenton, Fla.—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh is concentrating on his Cleveland rookies in early exhibition games, leaving the regular to get themselves into shape gradually. He planned to use young pitchers against Louisville today, saying Bob Feller and other veterans for week-end tilts with the Giants.

Los Angeles—Charley Root, 42-year-old dean of the Chicago Cubs' pitching staff, is getting every opportunity to prove he's still a starting pitcher. He got the call to start against the White Sox today as the Chicago rivals opened a 16-game spring series. Manager Jimmy Wilson apparently figures that if Root can whip the Cubs' bitter city rivals, he ought to do all right against National League foes. John Rigney and Ed Smith were to pitch for the Sox, who have won three of four exhibitions.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Joe DiMaggio is the only Yankee regular who hasn't appeared in the "Grapefruit League" lineups, and his delay is causing some concern in the Yanks' camp. Joe has a sore right shoulder.

Hollywood, Calif.—Frankie Frisch, cheered by better pitching and timely hitting that gave Pittsburgh a victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday, said he would use three promising youngsters today against the Athletics. They are Bill Clemensen, Caddis Swigart and Aldon Jay Wilkie, young southpaw.

Ott on Third
Clearwater, Fla.—As long as Mel Ott is around, there seems no need to worry too much about the New York Giants' patchwork infield. Bill Terry sent Mel to third yesterday to give Lou Chiozza a rest and because he's overstocked on outfielders. Ott did his usual sound fielding job and belted a

Tigers Have Even Chance Of Repeating in American League Pennant Scramble

Club to Have Power With or Without Greenberg; Good Hitters, Pitchers Keep Club in Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

Lakeland, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Ever since the Detroit Tigers gasped their way to the last American League championship and then were beaten into a state of exhaustion by Cincinnati in the World Series it has been customary to regard them as dead pigeons.

With but slight variation the saying has been: "Well, whoever wins in the American League, it won't be Detroit." The recent realization that big Hank Greenberg, the Tigers' greatest slugger, was due to be drafted any minute has swelled the dirge for Del Baker's team.

After looking them over in training camp here, the suspicion arises that the Tigers might have been planted a little prematurely. They feel they have an even chance of repeating, with or without Greenberg. It probably would be rash to pick them over either Cleveland or the New York Yankees, but it would be equally foolish to think they will not be a powerful factor in the coming race.

Hitters Did Trick
Looking back on the Tigers last year, they won out partially because the strife-torn Cleveland Indians collapsed and partially because they (the Tigers) had two great pitchers in Buck Newsom and Lynwood Rowe and three tremendous hitters in Greenberg, Rudy York and Barney McCosky.

They lost the World Series, which they entered tired and weary. But they made it as close as the next breath and it might have been a vastly different story if Rowe had not fallen down completely in his two series starts. He still doesn't know why. He simply had nothing on the ball.

If and when Greenberg goes (and he says "I'm ready to go the minute they call me") it can't help being a blow to the Tigers. Yet it will not necessarily prove a knockout. They still will have three dangerous hitters in McCosky (.340), York (.316) and Charlie game-winning triple against the Boston Red Sox.

Tampa, Fla.—Since the St. Louis Cardinal veterans failed to stop Brooklyn yesterday, Manager Billy Southworth said he would pick the hurlers for today's Cincinnati game from these rookies—Howard Krist, Herschel Lyons, Max Surkont, Henry Nowak and John Pintar.

Gehringer (.312). They still will have Newsom (.215), Rowe (.163) and Tommy Bridges (.129) to pace their pitching staff, which includes several promising youngsters. And they still will have a fine pair of catchers in Billy Sullivan and Birdie Tebbets.

Greenberg's replacement would be Ned Harris, brought up from Beaumont of the Texas League, where he hit .312 and was second in total hits and runs scored.

Infield Is Fair

It was the age and infirmities of the Detroit infield that caused the experts to pass them up unanimously in camp a year ago. Second Baseman Charlie Gehringer was crowding 37, and sick. Shortstop Dick Bartell was 33 and his arthritis had almost had him out of baseball a couple of times. Third-Baseman Pinkie Higgins had ailing legs. First Baseman Rudy York was healthy as a horse, but his fielding left something to be desired.

That was the crew that fought through to the pennant and is getting set to try it again. Outside of being collectively four years older, it actually looks better than it did any time last year. Especially in the case of the remarkable Gehringer. He is well and happy for the first time in several years and is going and getting scorches to his right that he only scowled at a year ago.

York is a good-enough fielder and is hitting with terrific force. Higgins' legs have mended and the veteran is looking for a big year. Eric McNair, obtained from the Chicago White Sox at the waiver price, will take some of the load off Bartell at short, though Dick didn't ask for any help.

Bulwark of Reds' Pitchers

BUCKY WALTERS

Rounding into shape at Tampa, Fla., for another expected big year is Bucky Walters, ace hurler of Bill McKechnie's Cincinnati Reds. Since the 1940 World Series experts have been wondering how long Walters and his able teammate, Paul Derringer, will be able to hold up the Reds. Part of this will be told throughout the coming season. The fate of the Rhinelanders, however, rests with these two fingers. Thompson, Moore, Vander Meer, Beggs and the other Cincy mounds-men are all graded pitchers but without Walters and Derringer, McKechnie would be far from a manager of a pennant contender. So far in spring games Walters has been pitching superbly.

Rhumba-Dancing Dodgers Say Pennant's in the Bag

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service
Havana, Cuba—This land of the rhumba has given new rhythm to the Brooklyn Dodgers—a rhythm that they're no longer talking about "next year." Brooklyn's next year is here.

Every last one of the Dodgers thinks Brooklyn will win the National League championship. And there are no "maybes" or "ifs" in their conversations. They're certain.

They dare you to say they haven't the best infield in the league. They believe the catching will be satisfactory and—with a bow to Walters and Derringer of the Reds—they say they'll still take the Brooklyn pitching over Cincinnati's.

Some of the more optimistic members of the gang are talking in terms of 30 victories for young Kirby Higbe. Higbe has got the spirit, too. "If I could win 14 for the Phillies, I should be able to coast to 20 for the Dodgers, maybe more," he says. Whit Wyatt won 15 last year when he was bothered part of the season by a knee injury. He figures he's a cinch to add another five or six wins.

Just Carnival Spirit?

Perhaps it's the carnival spirit of gay Havana but the boys also predict big years for Luke Hamline and Hugh Casey. Luke won 20 games two years ago and the bench experts think he can do it again. They've always been high on Casey but he's never quite come through.

Lee Grissom may be the one to furnish the "velvet." If he should have a good year the Dodgers would be much closer to the pennant land of their dreams. Van Lingle Mungo, before he was ousted, was in the same category.

Fred Fitzsimmons, who won 16 last year, Jim Carleton and Curt Davis will do relief work and make infrequent starts. It's too early to judge the rookies too seriously but Durocher is high on Edward Head from Elmira and Al Sherer from New Orleans.

The infield of Dolf Camilli, Pete Coscarart, Pee Wee Reese and Harry Lavagetto is tops. Lavagetto has put on weight and is hitting the ball hard. Reese has completely recovered from his ankle injury, is covering lots of ground in the short field and slugging the agate.

Joe Medwick, no longer plucky after his beaming a year ago and completely happy with the Dodgers, has his aim on the batting championship. Generally a late spring training starter with the Cardinals, Medwick has been here since the Dodgers opened camp and is in marvelous shape.

Reiser Looks Good
Durocher hopes to play young Harold Reiser in center field. Reiser hit .381 for Elmira and Leo thinks he will add some punch to Brooklyn's offense if he can get by as a fielder. All the rest of the flycatchers are battling for the right field berth. Dixie Walker may get it. Or perhaps Paul Waner, who is in good shape and wants to have another big year before the bell tolls for him. Joe Vosmik, Jim Wasdell and Joe Gallagher are also in the lists. Charley Gilbert is perhaps the best fielder of the lot but lack of a punch at bat may send him back to the minors.

Arnold Owen from St. Louis and Babe Phelps will split the catching.

This tropical sun will do things to you. And perhaps it has affected the Dodgers' sense of values. That's something we won't know about until late summer. Until then let's leave the Flatbushers with their dreams.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 19 (The Special News Service)—St. Louis may furnish a haven for Joe Louis vs. Tony Musto, a refugee from Cleveland. . . Connie Mack figures this year's training trip will cost the A's 30 grand, and he can't help but remember that once he trained the team in Philly and came up with a $5,000 profit. . . Little Patty Berg, on a lecture-exhibition tour of the southwest, is getting rave press notices. . . Don Elser, with a fine record at St. Benedict's College last year, is angling for an eastern head coaching job for 1942. . . Jockey Nick Wall, who rode Bay View in the Santa Anita, is dickering with the Louis R. Mayer stables—at $15,000 per.

White Hope, Mebbe
Jack Sutherland having proved the mines are full of high class football players, they are going to see what the mines can do about producing fighters. . . The American Mining Congress plans a series of boys as a feature of its forthcoming exposition at Cincinnati. . . Gene Tunney says the man who beats Joe Louis will come out of the army. . . But maybe he'll come out of the mines.

Odditorium
In San Francisco last week, a boxer was permitted to fight twice on the same card. He scored a three-round kayo, then came back to be polished off in two. . . Ted Williams freely admits he owns neither a necktie nor a hat. . . How about giving Baron Poffenberger credit for something of a record. In the Southern Association last year, he ranked first in wins with 26 against nine losses, but 34th in earned runs. . . Tom Ananicz, a southpaw with Kansas City, is studying for the priesthood.

Today's Guest Star
Art Coh, Oakland Tribune: "The hearts of Sigma Chi used to be all the football heroes, but times have changed. . . Do you know of any other Greek frat that could have matched a 1940 Phi Delta Theta backfield of Tom Harmon; Don Scott, Ohio State; George Franck, Minnesota; and Norm Standlee, Stanford?"

Tattle Tales
A Washington and Lee student named Hugh Strange is taking bows for conceiving the idea of getting Fred Perry to coach the tennis team. . . Wisconsin legislators may pass a bill permitting 15-round championship fights. . . Tom Meany has a nifty in this week's S. E. P. on Phil Rizzuto. Says all Phil has to do to become "Rocky No. 1" is to put the Yanks back together again, something old King Ruppert's money, men and brewery horses couldn't do last year. . . Shorter Luster, Oklahoma's new coach, is going in for a batch of trick plays behind a line that will average 200 pounds, and somebody had better look out.

Bus Driver Wins
West Haverstraw, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Charles P. Nardiello, a bus driver and Democrat, yesterday was elected mayor of West Haverstraw over Thomas C. Rowan, an incumbent and Republican, on an economy platform calling for abolition of the police department. The vote was 479 to 366. Nardiello said the village, with a population of 2,500, could use state police.

Farr Reports Thefts
London, March 19 (AP)—Tommy Farr, Welsh heavyweight boxer, today reported thieves broke into his Brighton home where he was sleeping and stole $17,000 worth of jewelry, trophies and gifts from friends in the United States.

BASEBALL CUTOUT—Behind Louis Small, expert cutter at a Chicopee, Mass. plant making baseballs is a horseshoe from which baseball covers (note two at left) have been cut. It is estimated that 192,000 baseballs are made annually for the big leagues alone.

MACHINE BOWS TO MAID—Because no machine has the knack, women's hands stitch together baseballs at a Chicopee, Mass. plant where thousands of baseballs are getting ready for 1941 use. A 5-ounce baseball, 9 inches in circumference when finished, starts as a cork center around which wool, then cotton thread are wound before the horseshoe cover is added.

'One-Man Gang' All Set to Cop Job on Red Sox Pitching Staff

By DILLON GRAHAM

Sports Editor, AP Feature Service
Sarasota, Fla.—Mike Ryba, baseball's "one-man gang," appears a sure shot to stick with the Boston Red Sox's none-too-robust pitching staff.

After a decade and a half in the game, Ryba was good enough to win 24 games for Rochester to lead the International league and to be voted the league's most valuable player. However, that's nothing new to Mike. He'd won most valuable awards four times previously.

He has almost perfect control and the Red Sox nabbed him for use as a relief man and as an occasional starter. Being signed by Boston made Ryba an escapee from the St. Louis Cardinal chain-gang which had him tied for 13 years.

Ryba has played all over the country and when he hit camp here only one of the 38 Red Sox players—Lou Finney—had to be introduced. Mike had played with or against all the others somewhere along the baseball route.

'One-Man Gang'

He's known as the "one-man gang" because he can and has played every position. In one game he pitched three innings, played first base another three and then caught the final three. Another day he pitched and won the first half of a double-header and caught the nightcap.

Mike is no spring chicken. He says he is 35 but looks a bit older. He's blackhaired, dark and rugged. Once when he was managing Springfield, Mo., for the Cardinals, Mike was also business manager, responsible for handling of baggage, bus driver, general utility player and occasional pitcher.

He was charged with training young Cardinal pitchers. He'd do his duty by the Cards until Springfield dropped too many games, then he'd have to do his duty by Springfield fans and go in and pitch some wins.

Two of the youngsters Ryba is battling for jobs on the Red Sox staff now are kids who pitched under him when he was Springfield manager—Oscar Judd and Dick Newsome. And Ryba's debut into pro ball was at Johnstown, Pa., the year Joe Cronin was playing his first season there.

Auspicious Debut
Dominic Ryba, called Mike and pronounced Ryba, made an auspicious debut with the Cardinals back in 1928. He bearded the star pitcher, Grover Cleveland Alexander, and gave him a black eye. But he stayed on. Mike's first pitching chore with a big league team was with the Cards against Philadelphia and his foe was Old Moss Grove.

"I looked at the swiftest three strikes I ever saw and went back to the bench faster than I'd come up to the plate," he says.

One Red Sox who is glad Ryba is with him rather than against him is Ted Williams. The last time they met was in Minneapolis a couple of years ago and Ryba fanned Ted four straight times.

Joe Cronin has a dozen or more young rookie pitchers down here and he hasn't much idea yet just which ones he's going to keep but it certainly looks like Mike will be around. Anyone who can win 24 in the fast International league shouldn't be a liability to the Red Sox.

Scouts Win Again

Troop 3 of St. Joseph's Church continued on the winning streak Monday night by defeating Troop 10 of Immaculate Conception by 28 to 26. The teams were forced into an over-time period. Crosby scored 13 for the winners. Kellerman dumped in eight for Troop 10. The scores: Troop 3 (28)—D. Howard 5, R. Howard 7, Stanton 3, Crosby 13, Rafferty 0, Amato 0. Troop 10 (26)—Sczymanski 0, Styles 4, Argulewicz 6, Van Buren 2, Kellerman 8, Gill 6, Janasiewicz 0.

Cuvier Press Club will be the first in Cincinnati to show the new American League film, just as it was first in the Queen City with the National League's 1941 picture.

Joneses Submerge J. Y. A. Cagers by 62-38; Wimpies Win

Shultis Scores 21 Points for Joneses in 16th in Row Victory; Morans Lose to Woodstock

Faced by Jess Shultis, the new scoring sensation of the City Basketball League, the Joneses won number 16 in a row last night by overwhelming J. Y. A. by 62 to 38. Shultis dropped in 21 points to lead the offensive against the Jewish cagers.

The Wimpy Aces continued on their unbeaten second half path by humbling Mary's cagers by 32 to 24. Woodstock, keeping a steady margin over Morans, came through with a 20 to 16 triumph in the other league contest.

Assisting Shultis and the other Jones cagers, Johnny Gilday, towering center, pushed in 13 markers for his club to complete the rout of the J. Y. A. quintet. The Joneses took a 31 to 12 lead at the end of the first half. Weiner scored 14 for the losers.

Coughlin and Kozlowski were the big guns for Wimpies. Coughlin laced the cords for 11 points, Kozlowski dropped in seven. Storms and Kreppel accounted for 14 of the losers' points. Both clubs were held to low scoring in the Woodstock-Moran battle. Junquera was high, however, with seven.

The game between Maddens and Wimpies tonight will start at 9 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock as previously scheduled. The DeMolay squad will tangle with Woodstock at 8 o'clock.

The scores:
Jones (62)—Shultis 21, Bock 5, Gilday 13, Dubin 1, Toffel 9, D'Allessandro 9, Albany 4, J. Y. A. (38)—Speigel 2, Gerber 8, Weiner 14, Bahl 8, Gruberg 2, Banks 4.
Wimpies (32)—Bowers 4, D. Smith 0, Thomas 0, B. Smith 6, Coughlin 11, Uhl 2, Rickerson 2, Kozlowski 7, Dart 0.
Woodstock (20)—F. Hill 4, Chadwick 6, Teleski 6, Finneran 4, W. Hill 0, Lewis 0, Morans (16)—R. Maurer 4, Costello 1, Junquera 7, McGowan 2, E. Maurer 2.

Plattekill Residents Inherit
New York, March 18 (AP)—Tija Sichman and Christian Sichman of Plattekill share in the estate of their brother, the late Charles Sichman, of New Paltz, whose will was filed for probate today in Surrogate's Court here. Mr. Sichman died April 30, in New Paltz, leaving property estimated at $1,000. The residue goes to Miss Sichman and $100 to Mr. Sichman.

Two Golfers Lead North-South Play

Cooper, Mangrum Come in With 68's

Pinehurst, N. C., March 19 (AP)—That the best golf pros in the business can score well without actually playing good golf had been proved once again today as the north-south open championship went into its second 18-hole round.

Leading the list were Harry Cooper and Lloyd Mangrum, the one from Chicago and the other from its suburbs. Neither was consistent in yesterday's opening round, yet both put 68's on the scoreboard.

A stroke back at 69 were the two pro champions, open titleholder Lawson Little and P.G.A. champ Byron Nelson, with Sammy Snead and re-haired Al Brosh of Farmingdale, N. Y. And not one of them produced for the entire eighteen holes the kind of golf expected from the masters of this ancient, troublesome game.

Playoff on Tonight

The second round in the Federation League Dartball play-off will take place at the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock when the Hurley team and the Clinton Avenue team will clash.

League President Ford Frick has designated Umpire Ralph (Babe) Pinelli to work in the spring exhibition games of the Chicago Cubs until March 25. Umpire Lee Ballanfant then will finish out the spring schedule as the league's representative with the Braves.

Commodities Are Up Again, Hit New High for the Year

Stocks, as measured in the Dow-Jones averages, moved irregularly higher Tuesday, with most of the gain being registered in the last hour of trading. The rise was accompanied by increased activity, 130,000 out of the day's total of 404,450 changing hands in the final hour. At the close the industrial average was ahead 46 point for the day, to 123.92; rails had gained .05, to 28.08, but utilities were off .05, to 19.65. Early weakness in prices was ascribed to over-night reports that a German submarine had been seen in the Atlantic in American shipping lanes.

With the exception of three issues all stocks in the most active list showed plus marks at the close yesterday. Aviation Corp., second on the list, had a loss of .3 point and two active oil issues closed unchanged. Newport News led the list, up 1/8 in turnover of 10,500 shares.

Commodities again resumed their upward rush and the Dow-Jones commodity index, after receding Tuesday, shot up .72 point, to close at 61.86, a new high for the year. Both domestic and import staples advanced on a broad front. Agitation for higher farm payments and crop loans boosted wheat and cotton. Wheat prices soared and closed 1 1/2 to two cents a bushel higher at Chicago. News of a possible allotment of $100,000,000 of lease-lend funds for cotton shipments to Britain was a factor in sending the staple up 95 cents to $1.05 a bale. Cocoa, a center of activity for some time, due to concern over the shipping situation, continued to advance and spot cocoa made a new four-year high of 7.55 cents a pound for Accras ex-cok New York. Silk gained 4 1/2 cents a pound and hide futures had a rise of nearly 1/4 cent.

Postal Telegraph, Inc., although revenues have shown improvement in recent months, reports a net loss of $2,564,205 for the 11 months ended Dec. 31. The company commenced business on January 31, 1940, as the result of reorganization of Postal Telegraph and Cable Corp. and its subsidiary, The Associated Companies.

Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, told Cleveland Chamber of Commerce that one hundred billion dollars is an optimistic estimate of minimum direct federal government expenditures covering the next four years. He sees priorities extended, price ceilings set and income and savings conscripted and in part confiscated by steeply increased taxation and borrowing. Predicts that "the expansion of state capitalism which has been in progress for the past eight years will be speeded up in the coming year." Said that with the signing of the Lease-Lend Act the country embarked upon a road in which "there is no possibility of turning back or stopping" and that "in truth we have taken the war over."

Niagara Hudson Power Corp., with record breaking demand for its electric service last year, produced a balance for the common stock of around $8,200,000. Profits last year were $4,899,738.

In Rome, the authoritative Fascist Editor Virginia Gayda, often called Premier Mussolini's spokesman, declared that United States ships would "expose themselves voluntarily to attack and sinking" in order to disrupt the Axis blockade of England.

London had its longest overnight alarm since last December's dusk-to-dawn attacks, with the sirens wailing shortly after 11 p. m. and the all-clear signal coming at dawn. Many homes were reported demolished and some persons were trapped in the rubble.

At Hull, a shortage of digging tools spurred rescue workers to claw through bricks and debris with their bare hands to reach victims feared trapped. Incineraries fell on a hospital, and a theatre and dance hall were hit.

On the African war front, the British announced the capture of Jijiga, an important eastern Ethiopian town, which controls the road to the provincial capital of Harar, 50 miles away. A swift 3-day drive across 150 miles of the arid Ogaden Plateau preceded the assault.

Balkans Are Watched

Meanwhile, diplomatic moves in the Balkans—where British and Nazi armies are reported less than 100 miles apart across the Greek-Bulgarian frontier—centered about Yugoslavia and Turkey.

The German minister to Yugoslavia conferred with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic today and Nazi circles in Belgrade quickly circulated a report that Yugoslavia—biggest of the Balkan nations—would sign the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Alliance March 26.

Governors of Turkish and Greek Thrace conferred at a frontier railway station near Adrianople. Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was reported at Ankara to have gone to Palestine or Egypt for new talks with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Yugoslav officials apparently stood firm in refusing Germany's demands for a Nazi troop right-of-way.

Greeks reported breaking up restricted Italian offensives on the Albanian front and said there was no indication the Fascists had compelled their forces together, after last week's drive, for any renewed big push.

The vanguard of 300,000 British troops expected to bolster Greece against any Nazi invasion from Bulgaria was reported moving north through the Aegean kingdom.

Italy's high command said the war was all quiet on the Albanian front.

The Fascist bulletin said the British were massing strong land and air forces in the Cheran sector, in Italian Eritrea, where a

Two other British columns, plunging deeper into Emperor Haile Selassie's Italian-conquered African kingdom from the south, were reported advancing upon Negelli, whence a passable road leads to the Ethiopian capital of Addis Ababa.

Cairo dispatches said the British campaign in East Africa was now entering its final phase, with drive on all fronts aimed at crushing the Italians before the rainy season starts in about two weeks.

Military circles in Cairo said Britain had thrown into the East African fight the greatest army ever assembled, fitting and a vast quantity of equipment, including several hundred planes from the United States.

Pressure was increased on Cherene, where an Italian garrison of 35,000 has blocked the British push to the Eritrean capital at Asmara and the Red sea port of Massaua. Two British columns wedged deeper into Ethiopia from the south. British troops who recaptured Berbera, British Somaliland capital, were reported fanning out and threatening Ethiopia from the east, while others moved in from the west and southwest.

325 Men Enroll At County School For Fire Training

The volunteer firemen's training school under the auspices of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will open Friday evening in the Myron J. Michael School, and to date approximately 325 volunteer firemen have enrolled for the school courses it was announced Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the association in Saugerties.

The county firemen were the guests of Washington Hook & Ladder Company, and nearly 200 firemen from all sections of Ulster county were in attendance. The school which is sponsored by the association and financed by the board of supervisors will hold the opening session at 8 o'clock Friday evening in charge of James Deasy, retired battalion chief of the New York fire department, who will act as instructor of the school.

William Frank, Jr., of Poughkeepsie, a trustee of the Firemen's Home in Hudson, addressed the meeting last night and called attention to the fact that the institution could accommodate 196 men, and that there was a large waiting list of applicants to enter the home. He said that an addition to the home was needed and the proposition would be submitted at the annual state firemen's convention in Geneva in August.

Fire Chief Henry Drake of Stanfordville, Dutchess county, also spoke briefly, and interesting moving pictures were shown.

The April meeting of the association will be held in Kingston with Cornell Hose Company as host to the association.

A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served.

Republicans Riddle State's Program and Sack Bills For Spending of $66,000,000

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican-controlled committees, rushing for adjournment, have riddled Governor Lehman's legislative program and sacked appropriation bills calling for additional state expenditures totaling $66,000,000.

The Assembly ways and means committee, whose efforts to reduce the state budget were compared by the governor to a mountain which "labored mightily and brought forth a mouse," whittled away at pet money bills and expected to have by nightfall less than $2,500,000 left for legislative action.

130 Persons Ask For Training

Total Number Is Exclusive of N.Y.A. Enrollees

Approximately 130 persons, exclusive of the boys and girls in the National Youth Administration, have applied for the vocational courses being held in the Kingston High School, it was stated today by Superintendent Arthur J. Ladd, who said that the program contemplated was restricted by lack of sufficient space and lack of necessary equipment.

The courses are planned to fit local workers for jobs under the national defense program, and courses are being given in machine shop work and blueprint reading, while for the girls courses in home-making and the use of power sewing machines such as used in the factories of Kingston are given.

Classes for girls in home-making and power sewing machine instruction is now being given to the girls of the NYA with Miss Evelyn Smith in charge of the sewing machines and Miss Margaret Schuetz in charge of the home-making classes which are held from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoons. The girls each week are given 10 hours' instructions on the sewing machines and five hours in home-making.

Evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock classes in machine shop routine and blueprint reading are being given with James McGrath and J. Lawrence Henze, employed by the Hercules Powder Company, as instructors. The men taking the courses are given six hours a week, and groups meet each Tuesday and Thursday for the one group and Monday and Wednesday for the second group.

Beginning next week it is hoped to start classes meeting at 10 o'clock at night and continuing through the night until 6 o'clock in the morning for men who are now employed on WPA projects to instruct them in machine shop work. Herman Schmid, retired, who for years was with the Apollo Magneto plant, will act as instructor.

A program for NYA boys is being planned.

Insurance Claim Of $5,000 Opposed In Court Action

A jury was taken this morning to hear evidence in Supreme Court in an action brought by Minnie E. Moore against the Commercial Casualty Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., to recover $5,000 under an automobile insurance policy carried by her son, O. C. Moore, in which she was named as beneficiary.

Moore was employed by a Newburgh automobile firm as a salesman and died on September 28, 1938, at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, from pneumonia. Ten days before he had been involved in an accident four miles from New Paltz on the Modena road when his car skidded on a wet pavement and ran over a pile of stones and crashed in a clump of trees.

In the accident, it is claimed, he suffered a chest injury and after the crash was observed holding his chest and spitting blood. He returned to Newburgh and worked for a time but was taken to St. Luke's Hospital and died 10 days after the crash of pneumonia.

The plaintiff claims the injury was responsible for the resulting pneumonia and that it was the accident which caused his death and therefore the insurance company becomes liable. The insurance company refused to pay the $5,000 claim after proof of death was served and claims that the accident was not responsible for his death and that he died from a disease 10 days after the accident.

Moore's mother was beneficiary under the terms of the policy and seeks now to recover the $5,000 claiming his death was due to accidental death and therefore covered by the accident policy. The accident happened on September 18, 1938.

Joseph T. Collins appears for the plaintiff and Mr. Conboy of Carter and Conboy of Albany for the defendant.

On the call of the calendar No. 199 was announced settled. This is an action brought by Paul Chapuis against Joseph E. Stout, negligence, No. 214, Charles W. Johnson against Howard Miskell, negligence, was also settled.

Jurors were excused until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

C.Z. Rogers Named To Head Festival

Rensselaer, would be invited to participate, and that Dutchess county already is making plans to take part in the activities.

Thursday, April 3, was set as the date for an inter-county meeting, at which time it is expected that representatives from at least seven of the counties in the district will be present and discuss plans for the big time.

Tentative plans call for choosing the Ulster county queen at a gathering to be held at the Municipal Auditorium, Kingston, Saturday night, May 3. A letter will be sent out immediately to high schools, Granges and other organizations, inviting them to select representatives to enter the contest for Ulster county queen. Contestants must be single, 16 to 21 years of age inclusive, and legal residents of the county.

The celebration probably will follow the same plan as last year with a parade, floats and music and a coronation pageant at the conclusion of the parade. If permission is given for use of the Municipal Stadium, the pageant and coronation ceremonies will take place there.

What's Left of North Street Alcohol Still

Federal men are about finished with the job of dismantling the still on North street, which was raided last Saturday, as the views above indicate. At top is a view of part of the equipment as it was taken out of the building and in the other picture is shown one of the side entrances leading into the room where the heavy vats were stored. The lumber in the foreground was once inside the building and to the right is the front of the truck used to haul the equipment off the premises.

Savings and Loan Week Scheduled For April 1 to 7

"Savings and Loan Week" for New York state has been scheduled for April 1 through 7. This announcement has been made by the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations, whose 215 member associations are sponsoring this event. In this city, the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, and the Home-Seekers' Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association will take part in the celebration.

This is the second successive year during which "Savings and Loan Week" has had state-wide observation, the week of April 1 through 7, 1940, having been marked by celebrations in most cities and towns of the state and being climaxed by a proclamation of Thrift and Home Ownership Week by Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

E. Frank Flanagan and Fred J. Walter, presidents of the local associations, in response to a question regarding the purpose of Savings and Loan Week, stated: "The main objective of Savings and Loan Week for the state of New York is to get the public better acquainted with Savings and Loan and what it can do for the individual in the field of thrift and home-ownership. The 215 member associations of the New York State League are joining together during this period through an intensive campaign, to tell our story to the people in our individual communities, so that when the week is over, there will not be one citizen who is not fully aware of the two services which his local savings and loan association stands ready and especially equipped to handle for him. The stimulus which business should have through the increased interest of the public in home buying, building, modernizing and repairing should be of inestimable value in putting back to work many now unemployed, as a result of this campaign."

The officers and directors of the local associations are: Charles H. Buchholtz, Arthur J. Burns, William B. Byrne, R. Frederick Childsey, Charles B. Everett, E. Frank Flanagan, William A. Frey, Peter J. Halloran, Harry Hymes, John B. Kearney, Harry L. Kirchner, Chauncey M. Lane, Eugene P. MacConnell, Irvin McCausland, Wilmer S. Nickerson, Charles R. O'Connor, Samuel H. ## Sparks Is Victor At Ellenville in Village Election

Benjamin C. Sparks, running for his second elective term, was again named mayor of Ellenville at the village election Tuesday, receiving a majority of 176 over Oliver Brought, candidate on the Republican ticket. Sparks received 487 votes against 309 for his opponent and had a majority of 130 on straight ballots, there being 291 straight Democratic votes to 161 straight Republican.

Although the election was hotly contested the total vote was much below previous years. Two years ago 1,026 voters cast their ballots and last year 1,600, but it was claimed that a number of these were cast by persons not qualified to vote at the village election. The inclement weather caused many would be voters to stay home or to refuse to remain in line after coming to the polls.

In the election for two trustees, Floyd Howe, running for re-election received 568 votes and Edwin Hoar, Republican, 392, the two being declared elected. Runners-up were Frank Rose, Democrat, 358, and S. M. Boyce, Republican, 269.

The proposition to pay the mayor $400 a year and the trustees $200 each was defeated 203 to 159. The proposition was passed by the village board in April last year, but could not go into effect that year. It was finally decided

Surety Firm Gave Bail for Six Men Arrested in Raid

Bail for six of the eight men arrested following a raid on the still on North street Saturday has been furnished by the National Surety Co., it was announced today by U. S. Commissioner Charles de la Vergne.

Dominick and Filomena Spada, father and mother of Michael Gabriel Spada, of Glasco, furnished his bail and it was expected that bail for Vito Castiglione of New York will be furnished by the National Surety Co.

Castiglione, who was the only one for whom bail had not been obtained immediately, is an alien and he was taken to New York pending completion of bail arrangements there.

All of the group await action of a federal grand jury and a further hearing will be held in District Federal Court, New York, if an indictment is returned.

Bail was fixed at $1,000 for young Spada who was arrested Monday afternoon when he appeared at the plant while federal agents were there making preparations to dismantle the equipment.

John "Chappy" Caprotti and Peter Anthony Caprotti and Vincent Cernigliaro of New York were held under $1,500 bail and Tony and Joe Bosco of this city and Francesco Gervasi of New York were admitted to $2,000 bail each.

The American Legion Auxiliary submits its program for the month of March as follows:

The American Legion celebrates its 22nd birthday during the month of March. As an auxiliary to this great veterans' organization we extend to them congratulations and good wishes for a happy birthday, and hope their good work will continue for many years.

Community service committees will carry on an extensive program, projects are being sponsored for the improvement of community health conditions, for developing educational and cultural opportunities, for reducing traffic hazards, for beautifying the communities and for providing recreational facilities, particularly for the younger generation, and many other programs suitable to the needs of each respective community.

This year a study of Pan-American countries has been added to the auxiliary agenda. Much has already been accomplished by acquaintance and cooperation with our neighbors of the Western Hemisphere.

Also this month, the new emergency voluntary service is announced, the purpose of this committee is to cooperate with the American Legion National Defense program, and to use their facilities to strengthen and make more effective the Red Cross program for disaster relief. At this particular time we are stressing cooperation with the American Red Cross. The great organization known throughout the world as "The Great Mother." Unit members are urged to offer their services for knitting, sewing and bandage making and by attending first aid classes, or giving contributions of cash. age to this building was only slight.

A cow, the only head of livestock in the barn, was trapped in the fire and all other supplies and materials stored in the structure were destroyed.

A kerosene barrel near one side of the barn gave the firemen some concern and Mr. Marcello said he feared it would explode and shatter oil over the residence. It was still intact as the flames subsided, however.

"When I awoke," Mr. Marcello said this morning, "I looked out a window and saw the boarding house was a mass of flames inside. Soon some of the windows broke and the flames broke through and shot high into the air. Then I saw there was no hope of saving anything."

Mr. Marcello got the other members of the family together and had arranged for them to stay at the home of a neighbor. They were able to return home, however, as soon as it was seen that the residence was out of danger.

The boarding house, Mr. Marcello said, was a reconstructed barn and the other two structures were built close to it. He had planned to open the structure as a boarding house during the summer.

Mr. Marcello indicated that at first when he had heard the barking of the dog he could not determine what had caused his disturbance but he became aware of the fire when he saw a red glow through two or three of the windows.

Apples and grapes are raised on the farm of nearly 90 acres.
